Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: of the reasons disclosed in the previously filed Office Actions. Applicants argue against the rejection on the ground that polysaccharides having the claimed ranges of molecular weight provide an allergen inactivating effect that is different from the thickening effect of the Nagasawa et al patent. This argument is not persuasive since the Nagasawa et al publications discloses similar polysaccharide compounds that covers the molecular weight range disclosed in the instant claims. Insufficient information is disclosed in the data from Table 3 and Table 4 which compared activity of various compounds having a different molecular weights to the instantly claimed compounds. No major distinction between the claimed compound and prior art compounds was noted in Table 4 with regard to the ragweed plant allergen. Accordingly, the 103 rejections of the Claims 1-6, 9, 12-15 and 18-21 as being unpatentable over the prior art of record are maintained for the reasons of record.
